Developing Self-Directed Learners

> " The World Economic Forum has reported that the greatest driver of the future employment landscape is the 'changing nature of work, and flexible work'. To meet the demands of a changing world, individuals require initiative and self-awareness to identify their own strengths and preferred ways of working. Through supporting learners to developing both personal and professional insight into their performance, they are provided with an opportunity to develop resilience and grit in achieving long-term personal, learning and career goals to experience self-efficacy and ultimately, fulfillment in their lives. "

Developing Self-Directed Learners is an online Professional Learning course for educators, designed to self-pace while being connected to an online Professional Learning community and Future Capabilities Facilitator. Educators will build capability in designing, evidencing and assessing Self-Direction and Personal Capability by engaging with online learning and applying practical classroom strategies through the following;

Module 1: Adaptability, Change & Future Capabilities
Module 2: Learners engage with learning intentions and success criteria
Module 3: Learners direct their own learning and plan their work
Module 4: Learners use feedback to reflect on their learning progress
Module 5: Learners overcome challenges in achieving their goals
Module 6: Learners adapt to varied learning contexts, demonstrating resilience and grit

Underpinning each online learning module is opportunities for deeper understanding, collaboration and practical application of learning and teaching strategies through Milestone Tasks. To support the implementation of new learning, 2 X 1 hour webinars are delivered by a Future Capabilities Facilitator. Each educator has the opportunity to receive the Developing Self-Directed Learners micro-credential, by evidencing impact on student learning.
